Backdrop

As we all know that revolutionary changes due to Knowledge Explosion & Technology advancement have brought many paradigmatic shifts in the current educational scenario. The prominent one is from Teacher Centric to Learner Centric pedagogic approaches & strategies. This shift not only empowers the teachers for ensuring the engagement of the learners in the learning process but also in making teaching process more interesting, flexible, interactive and meaningful. This nature of teaching & learning encourages learners to reflect on what they have learnt and how they have learnt thereby promoting their critical thinking and problem-solving skills which are also being advocated as important skills in NEP 2020. Therefore, it is pertinent for all teachers irrespective of their discipline to equip themselves with needed knowledge, skill and attitudes for practicing learner centric approaches in their day-to-day classroom teaching.
